Family Camping Weekends

The staff and Friends of Pine Grove Furnace State Park have teamed up to offer three family weekend campouts this summer. This is an easy and fun way to introduce your family to camping and learn some new skills. The meals cooked over an open fire have earned rave reviews, and thankfully, there have been enough popup tents to provide some rain protection.

The most recent campout focused on survival skills. The participants learned the basics in knot skills, making a fire, treating your drinking water, navigation in the woods, and building a shelter.

Rain, Rain, and More of the Same

It has been a very rainy summer, but that has not kept the campers away. The campground has been full most weekends! Thankfully, Pine Grove Furnace State Park did not have to deal with the flooding that other parks experienced. There have been some minor road, gravel lot, and trail washouts, and the park did have to close Laurel Lake for a few days due to high water and debris coming down Mountain Creek. Whenever it is not raining, the staff has been working hard just to maintain the park’s grounds, which has limited other routine efforts. Mainly, the staff has been very busy mowing the grass again and again this summer.

Van Wagner Celebrates 125 years of Pennsylvania State Parks

Join Pennsylvania storyteller and singer Van Wagner for a performance at the Furnace Stack Pavilion on Saturday, September 29 at 1:30 p.m. In celebration of the 125th anniversary of our state parks, Van Wagner will trace the creation, conservation, recreation, and family fun of our state parks.

Van Wagner’s music and stories are about Pennsylvania history. He has released 23 original albums and in 2009 published a book with CDs titled Coal Dust, Rust & Saw Dust.

Bring the entire family and your lawn chairs for this performance!

Walk in Penn’s Woods

Join the Friends for a “Walk in Penn’s Woods” on Sunday, October 7 when Pennsylvanians across the state will walk in—and celebrate—Penn’s Woods! Rural, urban, and suburban woods, state and national forests and parks, municipal watersheds, conserved areas, private lands, and industry in the state’s 67 counties will hold open houses and guided woods walks showcasing the multiple values and diverse uses of our state’s priceless forest resources.

The goal is to have 100 hikes in Penn’s Woods on October 7. Details for the hike at Pine Grove Furnace will be available soon on Facebook and the DCNR website.

A Second Trail Bridge

The Friends and park staff have been coordinating on building another trail bridge over Mountain Creek. The plan is to expand the park's trail system by connecting the Mountain Creek Trail to the Koppenhaver Trail. The park has begun work on the permit process, and the Friends have reached out to a local business to help with a design. Stay tuned for updates.

Fall Furnace Fest
The park staff and Friends have been getting ready for Fall Furnace Fest on October 20 and 21. In addition to many returning food and craft vendors, the Birds of Prey, a broom maker, and the WoodMobile will be back this year. For the first time, we are pleased to offer a Native American cultural demonstration, and several new vendors have signed up, including a furniture maker. Rumor has it that Smokey Bear and Woodsy Owl will be making return visits!

Silent Auction: One of the ways that we raise funds at Fall Furnace Fest is through our Silent Auction. If you would like to contribute something for the Silent Auction, please drop the item off at the park office. Be sure to include the retail value along with your name and address.

Volunteers: The success of Fall Furnace Fest depends on the contributions of many volunteers. We need volunteers to hand out Fall Fest maps, assist with the hayride, help children learn how to make candles and scarecrows, or even dress up as Smokey and Woodsy Owl. If you are able to help out for just a couple of hours or as much as half a day, please contact Diane Velozo at pgfvolunteers@gmail.com.
